FATHER DARKLEAF

mattox to Oakville! Always found new homes under construction, and we came back in better spirits. Now it would seem that you can drive out in most any direction and see new building. In fact, all I have to do is look out of my front door Appomattox is on the move!

You didn't have to take Willie Gilla' word for it (which I am surely glad to do). He brought the Big Fish home with him! Last week-end, accompanied by K. E. Schuler and R. B. Parris, Willie and his son, Charles went fishing down in Eastern Virginia at a private pond. Willie landed an eight pound big mouth bass, 24 inches long. It was a beauty.

A few more days of warm spring sunchine, and I may yet decide to go into spring training. Anybody need a third baseman? (Anything to keep from pushing a lawn mower).

Bobby Mitchell says that the Richmond Virginians are going to have a fine baseball team this year. He and Judge Joel Flood were in Richmond last Sunday to see the Virginians play the Boston Red Sox.

Watch for the red tags! Appomattox Community Bargain Days Friday and Saturday.

PRIVATE PRESLEY

Fort Chaffee, Ark.- Pvt. Elvis Presley, rock 'n roll singing sensation, whose 1957 income was almost $1,000,000, drew his first Army pay recently — a $7 allowance given recruits to tide them over until the first regular payroll. "I'll probably start a loan company," he replied, when asked what he would do with all that money. What he actually did, however, was to use $1 of it to pay a civilian barber who parted the teen-agers' idol from what remained of his legendary locks.

READING SPEED

Philadelphia.- The average American can't read a bit faster now than he could in the sixth grade, an expert in the field declared recently. This statement was made by Dr. Nila Bantom Smith, director of reading clinic at New York University.

When he finishes grade school the average child can read about 200 words a minute. And he holds that speed right through high school and college and on into his business or professional life, according to Dr. Smith.

DELMARVALOUS CHICKEN

Dr. Edward W. Vandegrift, Denton, Md. (right) the first entrant in the "Men Only" Chicken Barbecue Contest, demonstrates the cooking skill that he will employ on June 26, while General Chairman John W. Asher, Jr., points with pride at the Delmarvalous Chicken.

About The Home

By Frances Dell

The very latest idea in glamorous home entertainment is provided by a swimming pool in the basement. The Better Basement Institute says that it is possible to have an indoor, basement swimming pool, measuring twelve by twelve by eighteen feet at a cost of about $800.

The developer of this novel idea states that the construction can be carried out in a basement with usually only minor changes. The pool is often placed between three regular foundation walls. Only the addition of one wall is needed to complete the pool enclosure.

In one Long Island development it has been reported that the pool can be up to eighteen feet deep by increasing the depth of the house foundation. Many interesting extras are possible, such as filtering systems, mirrored walls, and a series of overhead sun lamps. The pool is filled by the regular cold water supplied to the house.

It is suggested that a good number of windows be included in the basement of a home where a pool is to be constructed. The Better Basement Institute says this will provide needed ventilation and will prevent the penetration of excess moisture to the first floor.

A perfect situation for an indoor basement pool would be in a basement with one completely exposed wall and two partially exposed walls. The fourth wall could be cornered with mirror, or some other attractive material. The two partially exposed walls should feature windows, the completely exposed wall should feature sliding glass walls that could be closed during the winter and left open during the summer. These doors could best open onto terrace.

It would be wise to make arrangements during construction for the installation of a device to cut down on the moisture content of the basement room, if it should prove necessary.

IRAQ SCHEDULES ELECTION

Baghdad.- A general election will be held May 5 throughout Iraq, according to a recent announcement. The new Parliament will meet on May 10 to ratify the Jordan - Iraq Federal Constitution.
